FRAGMENTS OF GENEALOGY

STRUNG TOGETHER WITH NOTES OF FACTS
IN THEIR CONNECTION.

THE reason for the combination of these three families is, that the compiler received her name from persons bearing these names, and as she has been searching for the ancestry of her kindred, from whom she received her name — the Sarah name from her great-grandmother, Sarah Bartholomew Winston Norton; the Annis name from Annis Botsford Winston Cowles. Sarah m. John Winston; Annis m. Lorenzo Winston; and Maria Bartholomew (two generations down from Sarah), her niece, m. Alanson Winston — from the third generation on the Winston line from John Winston, Sarah Bartholomew's husband.

The writer was the first-born of this pair, Alanson and Maria Bartholomew Winston, who bore these signified names until her marriage, when these names became merged into a Pond name, Mrs. J. A. Pond, who has looked upon these little family genealogies as so small in comparison with our Heavenly Father's large family, which takes in all as we come down from our first parents, Adam and Eve; Eve being the (prospective) "mother of all living"—Gen. iii, 20, when we take into consideration the Abrahamic stock called in Isaac's name Isaac's sons,—Saxons, Anglo-Saxons.

However, she has been led to feed on this smallness of investigation for a short time with the consoling idea that it may fall to her lot later on to consider more generally the larger family research, as the best sometimes comes last, like the wine at the marriage feast; also, man's appearance on the stage of action on the sixth of those Creation days, as God rested on the seventh.

In this search after missing links we have stepped into ten generations of Winston genealogical ancestry with the first who came from Old England.

1. JOHN, prob. b. abt. 1615.
2. Sergt. JOHN, b. April 21, 1657.
3. DANIEL, twin, b. August 18, 1690.
4. JOHN, b. April 7, 1726.
5. JOHN, b. 1763.
6. LORENZO, b. 1791.
7. ALANSON, b. December 15, 1816.
8. DEWITT, b. January 9, 1843.
9. NATHAN, b. January 18, 1872.
10. MABEL C., b. October 8, 1897.

Then we will mention three more that belong to this tenth generation, that have lost the Winston name.

The 8th generation :

Sarah Winston m. Pond. | Frances Winston m. Defendorf.

The 9th generation :

Martin Pond, | Cora Defendorf m. Wooding.

The 10th generation :

Leslie Pond, | Lois and Helen Wooding.

1. Leslie Miller Pond, b. July 29, 1891.
2. Lois Frances Wooding, b. Feb. 5, 1895, d. Dec. 27, 1895.
3. Helen Wooding, b. July 6, 1897.

CONCERNING THE PICTURES.

As this is not a Pond genealogy, the writer has only succeeded in inducing her husband to take a seat beside her through much persistence. If it can be proved that it is not proper, then she will everlastingly break the rules of propriety. (He might have put on a little more gracious look over it.) My better half, Mr. J. Almeron Pond, has been a helper concerning this first effort on this line.

Now for a few quotations. Beecher has said: "The dry branches of genealogical trees bear many pleasant and curious fruits for those who know how to search after them." And God's Word says, in Exodus xvii. 14, I Chron. ix. 1, and Gen. xlix. 1: "And the Lord said unto Moses, Write this for a memorial in a book." "So all Israel were reckoned by genealogies, and behold they were written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah," etc. Old Jacob, on his deathbed, told his descendants what should befall them in the last days. Here it seems plain, if we will search for truth, to see where the chosen people which have been used all down through the ages by which to mould all other peoples started from,—these twelve Patriarchs, the sons of Jacob. The writer considers these three families which furnish the material for this treatise, as so many twigs from some line unknown to her, of the ten lost tribes or families.

Although she considers England and America as the Ephraim and Manasseh of old Israel or Jacob, whose ancestry were to be identified, and understood what had befallen them "in the last days" of the Christian age, we have aimed for the truth, which is more rare than fiction, and would here pen a stanza taken from some of John Warner Barber's Historical Collections :

“All-glorious Truth ! thy radiant light
Dispels the dark sulphurous gloom of night.
Firm as a rock that rears its ancient head,
With deep foundation laid on ocean's bed,
Though lightnings flash, though seas and thunders roar,
Thou wilt remain when time shall be no more.”

The compiler would tender thanks to all who have furnished data, etc., whereby she has been enabled to pursue this little task and bring it to its completion. She would also ask for a share of the indulgent judgment of her readers. Those alone who have had some experience in attempting the compiling of records can understand the difficulties.

A GENEALOGICAL TREATISE.

The object of this little work has been merely to search out names, dates, etc., of persons which have or do bear the name of Winston, with their connections by marriage, for the perusal of one and all that have the least tincture of Winston blood coursing through their veins, or for any one that can take any interest herein, with Anglo-Saxon or Israelitish sentiment — Numbers xv. 16 : “One law and one manner shall be for you and for the stranger that sojourneth with you.” We will mention dates with some of these names which it seems quite probable were our ancestry, which names have been written Wenston, Wenstone, Whetstone, and Winstone.

“A certain publication was put in charge for preparation by Sir Edwin Sandys and Dr. Thomas Winston. A note of the shipping, Men, and Provisions sent to Virginia by the Treasurer and Company, Dec. 15, 1619, &c., &c., for the better governing of the actions and affairs of the said Company, in England residing."

Christian Whetstone, age 19, to be transported to the island of Providence, April 16, 1635; and an Increase Whetstone, killed by Indians, March 14, 1676, at Northampton, Mass. (unable to make out what town, unless Barnstable), where Mercy Whetstone was m. June 30, 1698, to Joseph Parker. [And a foot-note reads, "perhaps the name is Whiston"; probably the record was not very plain, any more than some we come in contact with these days.] Also, a John Whetstone, age 20, on the Peter Bonaventure in 1635.

Then later down the stream of time (as we note various persons bearing these names, which have, as it seems, undergone a slight change from a Whetstone to a Winston), Patrick Henry's dau. m. G. D. Winston of Virginia; also, a John Winston Jones, United States Representative in Congress in 1803; and a Geo. T. Winston, among the list of officers of the Historical Society of North Carolina at its reorganization Oct. 26, 1887, and at the present time is the President of the University at Austin, Tex. We will give a few extracts from a couple of letters received from him, saying that he descended from the Winston family of Virginia; his ancestor in the sixth or seventh degree being John Winston, one of three brothers who came from Lincolnshire, England. Common family names, John, Antony, and Isaac. In a letter four months ago he wrote us, "I will take pleasure in sending you the genealogy of my family as soon as I can obtain a few missing links. We seem to fail in receiving any dates concerning George T. Winston's family."

Then we will mention a C. H. Winston of Virginia, who was elected president of the foreign mission board at a Baptist conference at Louisville, Ky., May 16, 1899. Then we have a very interesting letter from Wm. H. H. Winston of Lynchburg, Amherst Co., Va., with a list of names, also some dates commencing with his grandfather's family, whose name was George Winston, b. December, 1759, m. Judith Ricks, May, 1790. She was b. August, 1771. Children, fourteen.

1. James Winston, b. March, 1791, was a prominent merchant in Richmond, Va., and lived in quite a large place near the old St. John's Church on Church Hill.
2. Pleasant Winston, b. July, 1792, m. Elizabeth C. Clark, of Campbell County, Va. Children, eleven.

1. Bowling Henry Winston, the Bowling name after his uncle, Bowling Clark, who lived near Lynchburg, Va., and was a member of the legislature. This first child of Pleasant and Elizabeth Clark Winston was Bowling Henry Winston, who m. a dau. of John Clark. These Clarks were a prominent family in that part of the State near Lynchburg, Va. These two families, which Pleasant Winston and his son Bowling married into, tradition says were related several generations back. We can make mention of one son, John Clark Winston, of the firm of John C. Winston & Co., publishers and manufacturers of books, bibles, and albums, 328-334 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., also houses in Philadelphia, Pa., and Toronto, Ont. We sent letters of inquiry to one of these firms concerning the printing of this little treatise, thinking it would have a little more Winston tincture; have received no reply; probably all for the best. We are very grateful to John C. Winston, one who has replied, for several references that he sent us. His uncle, Wm. H. H. Winston, who sent me this record of his grandfather's family, whose third child was named George Winston, b. January, 1794, d. young.

4. Mary Winston, b. February, 1795.
5. Nathaniel Winston, b. June, 1797.
6. Elizabeth Winston, b. August, 1799.
7. Lucy Ann Winston, b. August, 1801.
8. Ann Winston, b. March, 1803.
9. George Winston, b. February, 1805.
10. Amelia Winston, b. November, 1806.
11. Benjamin Winston, b. August, 1808, probably d. young.
12. Thomas B. Winston, b. June, 1811.
13. Benjamin Winston, b. November, 1812.
14. Virginia I. Winston, b. January, 1815.

This George and Judith Ricks Winston family lived in Richmond, Virginia. Their second child, Pleasant Winston, the father of Bowling Henry Winston and of a son Pleasant Winston, also a George Clark Winston, probably d. young.

4. Liberia Indiana Winston.
5. George Whitlock Winston.
6. Elizabeth V. Winston.
7. Ambrose W. Winston.
8. Charles J. Winston.
9. Lucy Winston.
10. Wm. H. H. Winston.
11. Thomas B. Winston.

One of George and Judith Ricks Winston's daughters m. a prominent man of Richmond by the name of Butler; two daughters we can mention, Lucy Butler, and the other dau. who m. Dr. Harker, of Richmond, Va.

Charles J. Winston, Ambrose W. Winston, and Wm. H. H. Winston went through the civil war. This

Wm. H. H. Winston, of Lynchburg, Amherst County, Va., an uncle of the John C. Winston of Philadelphia, says in a letter: "Yours of the 10th I was very glad to receive for the information it conveyed." (We wrote him we had been taught that our southern relatives towered high above us northern Winstons.) In reply he writes: "I am very proud of my ancestry. I wish I could know all about them. When you finish your research I would be very glad to hear from you. Whatever of honor attaches to the name of the northern will only be another star in the crown of the southern. I am the last of my father's family living. I was a confederate soldier from Bull Run to Appomattox; was in the charge of Pickett's division at Gettysburg; lay on the battlefield four hours senseless; was finally captured and held in prison nineteen months, but got out in time to take part in the last battle at Petersburg. I did what I then thought was right, but I do not now think that war is right under any circumstances.

"May God forgive the past and unite the North, South, East, and West under the banner of peace and love to him and each other, and when this earthly house is dissolved, may all reassemble in a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

This Wm. H. H. Winston was b. July 29, 1840, m. Nancy Powell Moorman, February 28, 1866. She was b. January 1, 1841. Four children:

1. d. probably young.
2. Fannie Lee Winston.
3. Lucy Bowling Winston.
4. Joseph Wm. Winston, who is in business in Philadelphia, Penn.

Then we note a Dr. H. B. Winston of Hanover County, Va., and we think the first born of George and Judith Ricks Winston.

- James Winston had a daughter Jennie Winston who m. Dr. Holt, of Surrey County, Va.

. As we understand, the name of our ancestor, the immigrant who embarked from the seaport of Gravesend, England, is often signed at the foot of certificates, etc. The probability is that he was b. abt. 1615. John Winston was recorded a freeman March 7, 1647, of the New Haven colony. As early as 1631 two important rules were adopted at a meeting of the electors in General Court, namely: 1st. That the freemen alone should have the power of electing the governor, deputy governor, and assistants. 2d. That those only should be made freemen who belonged to some church within the limits of the colony. The latter rule was repealed in 1665. This ancestor, John Winston, was made a freeman in 1647; and we have dates of five of his children's baptisms during the ministry of Rev. John Davenport of New Haven, Conn.

1. Elizabeth Winston, baptized Dec. 12, 1650.
2. Hester, baptized Feb. 15, 1651, probably d. young.
3. Grace Winston, baptized May 30, 1654.
4. Christian Winston (a son), baptized Dec. 19, 1660.
5. Hester Winston, No. 2, baptized 1662.

We have a little scrap of history from Farmington, Conn., concerning infant baptism. It is stated that Sabbath Day afternoon it would be announced: "All children born since the last Sabbath are presented for baptism." No matter what the weather, no one dared to incur what seemed to them the terrible responsibility of deferring this solemn rite.

John Winston purchased a house and home lot in New Haven of Samuel Whitehead in 1651. He was concerned with Stephen Goodyear in establishing the iron works at East Haven in 1655, the first in Connecticut, also a commissioner on the part of New Haven to fix the bounds of Wallingford in 1673; prob. d. abt. 1697, aged 82. Seven children :

1. ELIZABETH, b. Dec. 11, 1649; m. Samuel Alling.
2. HESTER, b. Jan. 25, 1651; probably d. young.
3. GRACE, b. April 21, 1654; m. John Smith.
4. Sergt. JOHN, b. April 21, 1657; m. Elizabeth Daniel.
5. CHRISTIAN, a son, b. abt. 1660.
6. HESTER, No. 2, b. Nov. 11, 1662; m. Joseph Morris.
7. MARY, b. June 25, 1667; m. Oct. 16, 1685, Thomas Trowbridge of New Haven, the Thomas who was b. Feb. 14, 1664.

Elizabeth, the first born, m. Samuel Alling Oct. 24, 1667. She d. Dec. 8, 1682, aged 33; a direct ancestor of Joseph Peck, as his mother was Hannah Alling, who was a grandmother of Mrs. H. S. Bartholomew, etc., of Edgewood, Bristol, Conn.

John, the fourth child, b. April 21, 1657, m. Elizabeth Daniel May 9, 1682. Her grandfather on her mother's side, Thomas Gregson, was a principal man in the colony, and the first white settler at East Haven. He was appointed agent of the colony to the parliament in England to obtain a patent, and was lost at sea on the voyage over. This Thomas Gregson, also Stephen Goodyear, were among the first principal settlers at New Haven. We will copy from John Warner Barber's Historical Collections of New Haven, written in 1836, page 161: "New Haven having been exceedingly disappointed in trade and sustained great damage at Delaware, and the large estates which they brought into New England rapidly declining, this year made uncommon exertion as far as possible to retrieve their former losses. Combining their money and labors they built a ship at Rhode Island of 150 tons and freighted her for England, with the best part of their commercial estates. Mr. Gregson, Capt. Turner, Mr. Lamberton, and five or six of their principal men, embarked on board. They sailed from New Haven in January, 1647. They were obliged to cut through the ice to get out of the harbor. The ship foundered at sea and was never heard of after she sailed."

According to the belief of the inhabitants at that period, this ship was seen in the air after she was lost. We take the following account as we find it in Cotton Mather's Magnalia. (Mather was living in 1718.) He hearing of the circumstances, wrote to his friend, the Rev. Mr. Pierpont, for information, and received from that gentleman the following answer:

"Rev. and Dear Sir,— In compliance with your desires, I now give you the relation of that apparition of a ship in the air which I have received from the most credible, judicious, and curious surviving observers of it. In the year 1647, besides much other lading, a far more rich treasure of passengers (five or six of which were persons of chief note and worth in New Haven), put themselves on board of a new ship built at Rhode Island of about 150 ton; but so walty [inclined to roll much] that the master (Lamberton) often said she would prove their grave. In the month of January, cutting their way through much ice, on which they were accompanied with the Reverend Mr.

Davenport, besides many other friends, with many fears as well as prayers and tears, they set sail. Mr. Davenport, in prayer, with an observable emphasis, used these words: 'Lord, if it be thy pleasure to bury these our friends in the bottom of the sea, they are thine: save them!' The spring following no tidings of these friends arrived with the ships from England. New Haven's heart began to fail her; this put the goodly people on much prayer, both publick and private, that the Lord would (if it was his pleasure) let them hear what he had done with their dear friends, and prepare them with a suitable submission to his Holy Will. In June next ensuing a great thunder storm arose out of the northwest: after which (the hemisphere being serene), about an hour before sunset, a ship of like dimensions with the aforesaid, with her canvass and colors abroad (though the wind northerly), appeared in the air coming up from our harbor's mouth which lyes southward from the town, seemingly with her sails filled under a fresh gale, holding her course north, and continued under observation, sailing against the wind for the space of half an hour.

"Many were drawn to behold this great work of God; yea, the very children cryed out, 'There is a brave ship!' At length, crowding up as far as there is usually water sufficient for such a vessel, and so near some of the spectators as that they imagined a man might hurl a stone on board her, her main-top seemed to be blown off, but left hanging on the shrouds; then her mizen-top, then all her masting seemed blown away by the board: quickly after the hulk brought unto a careen (lay on one side), she over-set, and so vanished into a smoaky cloud, which in sometime dissipated, leaving as every where else a clear air. The admiring spectators could distinguish the several colours of each part the principal rigging and such proportions as caused not only the generality of persons to say, this was the mould of their ship, and this was her tragick end, but Mr. Davenport also in publick declared to this effect, that God had condescended for the quieting of their afflicted spirits this extraordinary account of his sovereign disposal of those for whom so many fervent prayers were made continually.

Thus, I am, Sir, your humble servant,

JAMES PIERPONT."

Sergt. John Winston (who m. the granddaughter of Thomas Gregson (of whom we stopped to relate the particulars of what befell him), was repeatedly appointed commissary for county of New Haven from 1690 to 1704, in connection with the fitting out of expeditions for the king's service against the enemy — French and Indians — at Albany, etc. Sergt. John and Elizabeth Daniel Winston had six children:

1. ELIZABETH, b. March 13, 1683.
2. JOHN, b. July 25, 1685.
3. MARY, b. March 12, 1688; m. Thomas Leek, June 1, 1716.
- 4 and 5. STEVEN and DANIEL were twin brothers, b. Aug. 18, 1690.
6. ANNA, b. May 23, 1697; m. Joshua Bay.

All the compiler is able to say further concerning this generation is about Daniel Winston, as it would seem Providence has fixed it, as it is on the very line she descends from.

Daniel, b. Aug. 18, 1690, m. Abigail Hotchkiss, Jan. 2, 1721. She was b. Oct. 12, 1695, d. Aug. 30, 1735, aged near 40. He removed to Southington from Wallingford, and lived north of burying-ground Hill, where Noah Cogswell lived and died. Daniel and Abigail Hotchkiss Winston's children were six:

1. ISAAC, b. Jan. 28, 1722.
2. HANNAH, b. Sept. 24, 1724; m. Nov. 7, 1751, Thomas Andrews, b. in 1720; res. New York, four children.
3. JOHN WINSTON, b. April 7, 1726; m. Elidia (or Lydia) Bristow of Farmington, Mch. 12, 1752. He d. abt. 1789, age abt. 63.

Her father, who had been in early life a school-teacher, was a farmer, much respected, and owned a considerable property in Southington parish, now Southington township. John and Lydia Bristow Winston's children that we can mention are four:

1. PATIENCE, b. July 17, 1753.
2. ABIGAIL, b. Nov. 6, 1754, d. in New Hartford, Conn., June, 1816; m. Timothy Dawson, a Revolutionary soldier.
3. ELIADA, b. Dec. 7, 1757.
4. JOHN WINSTON, b. 1763; the writer's great-grandfather, and the brother of this Abigail Winston.

As we know nothing more about Patience or Eliada Winston, we will endeavor to finish this chapter, considering what we have concerning this Abigail Winston, granddaughter of Daniel and Abigail Hotchkiss Winston, and daughter of John and Lydia Bristow Winston, probably named after her grandmother Abigail. The sister being about nine years older than John, we search for her pedigree first.

Abigail Winston, b. in Southington parish, Farmington, Conn., Nov. 6, 1754, m. Timothy Dawson in 1777. He was born in East Haven abt. 1743, d. in New Hartford, Conn., June, 1828, aged 85. She d. in New Hartford June, 1816, aged 62. This Timothy Dawson's first wife was Anna Holt, b. in East Haven Mch. 14, 1752, d. October, 1776, aged 24. She left three children. His second wife was Abigail Winston. His third wife was Lucina Marsh, b. June 15, 1764, and d. a widow in New Hartford; no children. The children of Timothy and Abigail Winston Dawson were eight :

1. ABIGAIL, b. 1778; d. young.

7. SYBIL, No. 2, b. Nov. 21, 1825.
8. MARILLA E., b. Oct. 31, 1828.

Mary Ann, the second child of Bristol Dawson and granddaughter of Abigail Winston Dawson, m. Norton C. Parsons, Sept. 3, 1837. He was b. in Enfield, Conn., Aug. 18, 1810; d. June 6, 1855, aged 45. She is now, in 1899, living in Bristol, 86 years of age. 2 Children:

2. Arthur H. Parsons, b. Aug. 28, 1840.

Clifford D. Parsons enlisted in Civil War Apr. 16, 1861, for three months, in the 3d Conn. Vols.; discharged Aug. 12, 1861. Enlisted Sept. 16, 1861, in 8th Regt. Conn. Vols. for three years. Re-enlisted in same regiment, and was discharged Dec. 20, 1865. Was m. to Elizabeth Levitt Jan. 25, 1864. She was the dau. of William and Agnes Levitt, and was b. at Taylor's Hill, England, Sept. 16, 1837. Five children:

The second child of Arthur and Mary E. Spencer Parsons is Eveline Sybil, b. Aug. 1, 1871.

A few more Winston names from the Dawson line:

Timothy John, the fifth child of Abigail Winston Dawson, named his fifth child Oliver Winston Dawson, born Feb. 1, 1821. He was chief clerk, commencing in 1853, of the local ticket department in the general ticket office of the Michigan Southern & Northern Indiana Railroad for nearly twenty years, when he resigned on account of impaired health.

Lydia Dawson, Abigail Winston Dawson's sixth child, named her second child Harriet Winston Beecher, b. Aug. 16, 1816, in New York. As Lydia Dawson m. Moses Beecher, these Winston names were probably in honor of their grandmother. It is claimed that the celebrated Dr. Lyman was connected with this family of Beechers. There are only two more of Abigail's ancestry that we have any acquaintance with. Sybil Dawson was b. Nov. 21, 1825; m. June 9, 1845, Joseph Sigourney. He was b. Feb. 17, 1821, d. June 17, 1887, aged 66. She was the seventh child of Bristol and Sybil Merrill Dawson, and Bristol, her father, was the fourth child of Timothy and Abigail Winston Dawson; and the compiler's great-grandfather, John Winston, who m. Ferdinand Winston went South when a young man and was taken with a fever, and died and was buried there.

Wellington Winston, the third son of Lorenzo and Annis Botsford Winston, was b. in 1818, m. Jane Charity Bartholomew Sept. 13, 1842. She was b. Feb. 22, 1821. She died Jan. 28, 1888, aged 67. Wellington was m. at 24. In six years, at the age of 30, received a passport given under hand and seal of the department of State at the city of Washington, the 19th day of February, A.D. 1849, signature of James Buchanan, for California with the gold-diggers, called "the forty-niners." His first letter home, to his dear wife, children, brother, mother, and all inquiring friends, was from Panama, Mch. 16, 1849. We take a few extracts from three letters. It seems they left New York Friday, the 23d day of February, and arrived at Panama Mch. 14th, with tickets for a steamer called Panama. They were on a sailing vessel from New York. They were kept waiting at Panama two months. As we understand, it was four months before they commenced digging, and had received but one letter from home up to Aug. 26th, six months.

Fifty years has made a decided change. (Now, right here we are going to drive in a present-truth wedge, and any reader that does not desire to read it can very easily turn over a few pages and go right on with the letter extract.) Yes, fifty years has made a decided change. We think you can find people to day that remember when there was no sending of information across the ocean and great water-ways of the world, save by slow sailing vessels; but within the last spanning of a lifetime what wonderful changes! No matter how important the news; even Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo could not reach this country save by a sailing vessel. But at the present time this country is in instant touch with the Old World by thirteen cables. In all the oceans and watercourses of the world there are reported 318 cables, with a total length of 146,000 miles, or nearly enough to girdle the earth six times. By this vast system of flashing intelligence under the seas and oceans, the nations are no longer isolated from each other. They are as neighbors speaking across a boundary line — which is the record of the last half of the century now closing. What our fathers could not have dreamed of is now a daily and hourly occurrence. There was a time when thousands made a man wealthy, but to-day millions are required to give a man entrance into the applause of wealth.

The aggregate progress of this closing century consists of changes so rapid, so revolutionary and widespread, that we stand amazed and indulge the inquiry as to why they have not appeared before. It might be said that the people were not enlightened, in these directions at least. In other words, back of this sudden irruption of invention and discovery there is an expansion of knowledge which has made it all possible. Steam was as powerful three thousand years ago as to-day, but it was lack of knowledge concerning it that allowed it to lie dormant through the ages. Electricity lit up the heavens in all past ages, and pulsed in the earth beneath the tread of men, but for want of knowledge concerning its power and great usefulness it has been, since the dawn of creation, a dormant and unknown but all-powerful agency.

In searching, therefore, for the key to the situation, we come to the relation of all this to the question of prophecy. It seems to us a clear case that this marvelous expansion of wonders which marked this as the wonderful century of all history, is a direct fulfillment of divine prediction. In Daniel xii, 4, we have this remarkable prophecy: "But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book, even to the time of the end; many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased." These words will doubtless find a partial fulfillment in the increase of knowledge concerning the prophecies and their application. The century certainly has witnessed a most gratifying and widespread interest awakened in prophetic study; but we believe it has an application, also, to the broad field of general knowledge. This being true, how striking the parallel between the prediction and present conditions. The vast increase of knowledge is located here in connection with the time of the end, which here in Daniel seems to be directly connected with the time of the resurrection of the dead. This will answer the question why the world has waited nearly six thousand years for the wonders of this century. The prophetic hour for this expansion of knowledge, which alone could make possible such discoveries, had not arrived. The conditions around us in these closing hours of the century prove, it seems to us, that the hour of fulfillment is upon us; and if this be so, it is a short step to the next conclusion, and that is, "that the time of the end" is at hand, and that the consummation of the ages is about reached.

Truly, we stand in thrilling times. Not only are we surrounded by the evidence of material advancement, but God's hand is manifest in opening the doors of the world for the last proclamation of the Gospel, and the missionary host marches to-day in many lands which the century has opened. The century closes with God's hand most signally manifest in all the affairs of nations and men, and the expectancy of great things in the near future pervades the world to-day. While the hope of the masses may be toward the dawning twentieth century, ours to-day is in the coming of the world's King, and the inauguration of that kingdom of peace and righteousness which shall be "under the whole heavens and shall stand forever."

In a letter Wellington Winston's wife wrote him while he was waiting in Panama, she mentioned his returning in the fall. He replied: "I may come home in one year from the time I started, and perhaps I may sooner—I cannot tell anything about it now; I want to get there first, then I can tell something about it. Fifteen hundred persons have left here within the last two weeks, and about fifteen hundred are waiting. Every sailing vessel that leaves this port is loaded to the water's edge, and the passengers are stowed in thickly."

He wrote to his wife: "You spoke about Mr. Barnes (this means Wallace Barnes). We should be glad if he were along; but when he hears of our hinderance here in Panama, I think he will be glad that he waited until there is a direct line formed of some kind, so that passengers can go straight through."

In a letter written in May (as it took from February until March 14, as they were helped along—towed to land by the steamer Orus, and with aid of shanks and mules to reach Panama), he says: "Our detention here, you probably know, is a great damage to us, not only putting us back from getting into the gold diggings until the middle of summer, but running the risk of our health in this hot, sultry climate, with the water which we have to drink, the average temperature being 73 degrees heat. The latter part of April began to go away rather slow; we thought we had been here long enough to become natives of the place, and if you could look down upon us you would think our thoughts did not deceive us. But Sunday, May 6th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the steamer Panama arrived. It made many a shorter face and many a heart rejoice."

A letter written in August states that they had been at the gold diggings two months the 27th of August. He mentions that it cost them each two hundred dollars more than their outfit to get into the mines, but "that is paid, and if I had an opportunity would send home five or six hundred. We do not consider ourselves fortunate in finding gold, but more fortunate in not getting sick."

In about one year he came home with his little share of gold, and he and his brother went rushing headlong in their business. In five short years the serpents by the way and adders in the business path had bitten "the horse-heels," and one of the riders had fallen—Gen. xlix, 17. Wellington had gone the way of all the earth, and Alanson succumbed, quietly stepping one side to behold his little all of business hopes and prospects gone. He stayed for twenty-one years, as he peacefully passed away with good wishes for everybody, at Atlantic, Cass County, Ia., in 1875, aged 59 years, 6 months, and 12 days.

We gladly leave these ups and downs of earthly experiences with the Judge of the quick and the dead, who certainly will do right. How truly all things earthly are fast passing away.

Wellington Winston d. April 15, 1854, aged 36 (this inscription on his headstone—"Gone, but not forgotten"), leaving a widow and three children. He was buried at the time of that noted snow-fall which was the cause of the flood of 1854. Those who bore him to his last resting-place forty-five years ago, Dr. James Austin, Mr. Joel Root, Mr. Alfonzo Barnes, and Mr.

Henry Kilborn, are also sleeping their last sleep, and no sound can arouse them except "the voice of the archangel and with the trump of God"; "comfort one another with these words."—I Thess. 4th chapt., a clause from the 16th and 18th verses. Wellington and Jane C. Bartholomew Winston's three children are :

1. Cora Annette Winston, b. Sept. 1, 1843.
2. Wellington W. Winston, b. July 7, 1847.
3. Wallace Ferdinand Winston, b. June 18, 1853.

1. Cora Annette Winston, b. Sept. 1, 1843, m. Charles W. Bradshaw May 13, 1872. He was b. 1842, d. Sept. 27, 1886, aged 44. Two children:

1. Wallace L. Bradshaw, b. Nov. 13, 1873.
2. Bertha Jane Bradshaw, b. Aug. 1, 1876, d. young.

The third child of Wellington and Jane Bartholomew Winston is Wallace F. Winston, b. June 18, 1853, m. Elizabeth Masters Oct. 16, 1881. She was b. Mch. 27, 1850. Two children:

1. Bertha E. Winston, b. Oct. 29, 1882.

This completes the Lorenzo and Annis Botsford Winston family. Now we will take up the second child of John and Sarah Bartholomew Winston.

Orestes Winston (some called him Erastus), b. abt. 1792, m. Nancy Warner. He d. Apr. 5, 1823, aged 32. She m. 2d, Ambrose Hart, Jr. He was b. Oct. 3, 1793, the sixth child of Mercy Bartholomew Hart. She was a sister of Sarah and Asa Bartholomew. This Ambrose Hart's grandfather was the noted Dea. Simeon Hart of Farmington. Nancy Warner Winston Hart d. in the town of Unionville, Conn., Sept. 27, 1852, leaving no children.

Eight children: John, Granville, Pauline, Sarah, Eunice, Martha, Alanson, and Irene. All we can say concerning these children is, that Helen Winston, from Bristol, m. Granville, and Alanson, called "Lanny" to distinguish him from his cousin Alanson, while on North, came here twice. He also went by the name of Merritt. The supposition is that his name was Alanson M. Winston. And his sister Irene sent wedding announcement cards to her cousin Alanson: "Wm. Hall Crew, Irene Winston. St. Paul's Church, Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 27, 1860," etc. He did not participate in the ceremony.

This Alanson Winston, the third child of John and Sarah Bartholomew Winston, we understand d. at Lynchburg, Va., and has a grandson living there by the name of John H. C. Winston.

4. John Winston, b. abt. 1796, m. Laura Stanley of Plainville, Conn. They settled in Missouri. Children: John, Timothy, Allen, Joseph, Ida, etc. The compiler remembers how rejoiced she was over a visit this great-aunt, Laura, made at her father's home over forty years ago. We have heard that during the Civil War this oldest son was assaulted, near his place, and killed by some northern soldiers who were intoxicated.

5. Sally Winston, b. abt. 1798, m. Heman Smith, and lived in Ohio. Three children: Alonzo, Melissa, and Maria Winston.

6. Lucy Winston, b. May 28, 1800, m. Thomas Franklin Fuller, Bristol, Conn., Aug. 21, 1821. She d. Oct. 25, 1893, aged 93. He was b. Apr. 29, 1798, d. Feb. 5, 1848, aged 50. Four children:

Isaac Y. Hartson m., 2d, Julia Johnson, Nov. 19, 1890. She d. Jan. 13, 1891. He m., 3d, Lena Peck, Nov. 24, 1892. She was b. Mch. 8, 1867. One child, Merritt Isaac Hartson, b. Mch. 31, 1894.

The ninth and youngest of John and Sarah Bartholomew Winston's children was Allen Winston, b. 1808; m. Eunicia Foote of Burlington, Conn. He built and lived in the Franklin Steele place in Edgewood, Bristol, Conn., until he d., Oct. 25, 1848, aged 40. She was b. Aug. 25, 1812, and d. South with her dau. Helen, who m. Granville Winston in Bristol, Conn., Sept. 4, 1850. He was a son of Alanson Winston, who settled in Lynchburg, Amherst County, Va. We have heard that Granville d. and Helen m. again, and lived in Tennessee. Allen and Eunicia Foote Winston had two children: This Helen, b. 1834; Dwight Winston, b. abt. 1837, went to California.

This completes what we have gathered that has come down from the third son of Daniel and Abigail Hotchkiss Winston. This Abigail's mother was Hannah Tuttle, and this Daniel a twin brother of Stephen Winston, sons of Sergt. John Winston, who was b. Apr. 21, 1657, his father being the immigrant from England. This Sergt. John Winston m. Elizabeth Daniel. This probably accounts for the Daniel name. She was a grd.-dau. (on her mother's side) of Thomas Gregson. Sergt. John and Elizabeth were grandparents to these children of Daniel and Abigail Hotchkiss Winston. We have mentioned :

1. Isaac, b. Jan. 28, 1722.
2. Hannah, b. Sept. 24, 1724.
3. John, b. April 7, 1726.

Now we will mention :

4. Daniel, b. June 2, 1728.
5. Abraham, b. June 15, 1730.
6. Stephen, b. Dec. 3, 1733.

Daniel Winston, the father of these six children, m. 2d, Temperance Swift, Dec. 18, 1738. One son: Ephraim Winston, b. Oct. 18, 1743. Daniel Winston d. Jan. 17, 1780, in his 90th year.

All we can say about these last four children is a little concerning Stephen Winston (probably named after his twin-uncle), b. Dec. 3, 1733, in Wallingford, Conn.; m. Rosanna Cogswell in 1758. She was b. May 11, 1739, in Southington, Conn. We understand that she had a sister, b. July 20, 1737, who m. a Winston—Lurana Cogswell. Stephen and Rosanna Cogswell Winston's children were five :

1. Rosanna, b. Jan. 2, 1759; m. Samuel Hart.
2. Jemima, b. Feb. 7, 1761.
3. Stephen, b. April 8, 1763.
4. Johannah, b. Nov. 13, 1765.
5. Daniel, b. Feb. 27, 1768.

The compiler's immediate Winston ancestry comes down from the immigrant.

1. John Winston, b. abt. 1615.
2. Sergt. John, 4th child, b. Apr. 21, 1657.
3. Daniel, a twin, b. Aug. 18, 1690.
4. John, the 3d child, b. Apr. 7, 1726.
5. John, the 4th child, b. 1763.
6. Lorenzo, the 1st child, b. 1791.
7. Alanson, the 2d child, b. Dec. 15, 1816.
8. DeWitt, the 2d child, the writer's brother, b. Jan. 9, 1843.
9. Nathan, only child, b. Jan. 18, 1872.
10. Mabel Cynthia Winston, b. Oct. 8, 1897.

This completes what we have gathered on the Winston line, some of whom seem to be drawn toward the Bartholomew family,—as John m. Sarah Bartholomew and his son Orestes's widow m. a son of Mercy Bartholomew, who was a sister of Sarah and Asa Bartholomew. Now we will take up the Bartholomew side, commencing with Sarah's father, Jacob Bartholomew, dwelling mostly on the Asa Bartholomew family, as two Winston boys took his youngest girls, and ever after they went by the name of Winston.

BARTHOLOMEW GENEALOGY.

The writer's great-grandmother's father was Jacob Bartholomew, b. Jan. 9, 1736 or 1737. He m. Sarah Gridley, so it is plain to see that Sarah Bartholomew Winston obtained her Sarah name from her mother, Sarah Gridley Bartholomew. She was b. Feb. 21, 1738, d. Apr. 10, 1801, aged 63. Jacob m., 2d, Mrs. Eunice Cowles. He d. in Bristol, Conn., Oct. 29, 1805, aged abt. 69. His first wife was the mother of his eleven children:

Sarah, the third child, and Asa, the eighth, are the two principal branches that we are stopping now to consider. As scions were taken from the Asa Bartholomew branch and the branch Sarah was grafted into,— a Winston branch,— Sarah was a branch of

Jacob Bartholomew's tree or family, and her brother Asa furnished two scions for the Winston genealogical list. Asa (the father of Maria and Jane, who both m. Winstons) was b. When but one year of age her father, who was an architect, was killed by Indians while in company with a party to Pike's Peak. Such tragedies strike a sensory nerve if we stop to sense them in a somewhat different manner than a fairy tale. Her mother, Margaret Bell, d. Mch. 12, 1898, aged 77, at Defiance, O. These few lines we have copied from a memorial sent to this daughter after her mother's death :

"A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled."

If the compiler had not used some of her persistence this little fragment of the past would not be placed in here.

Therefore, Dr. Titus Merriman named his son Eli Todd Merriman in honor of his friend. We have a little concerning this Dr. Todd which has already appeared in print, concerning the Farmington Library, that was formed, we think, Aug. 1, 1785: "Dr. Todd is fined half a dol. for having his mind so occupied with patients as to forget his Library book for 6 days. It made no difference who the unlucky offender was, be he of high degree or otherwise, if he forgot to return his Library book on time, he had to pay his fine."

4. Irene B. Atkins, b. 1788.
5. George Arthur, b. abt. 1790.
6. Annis B. Winston, b. 1792.

Daniel Botsford, b. Aug. 21, 1782, m. Polly Betsey Foote Oct. 5, 1800. She was b. Sept. 26, 1782. Five children:

1. Luzon Alanson Botsford, b. June 4, 1802.

This family moved or went West, near Michigan, as years ago he used to make visits home to Bristol. All we have concerning him is a few thoughts he expressed in a letter. We are minus what enclosed it, or any address, only a general one to his friends, etc., received in 1852. It was found among his sister Annis' things after her death. He here mentions, "My health is good, but I am broken down as to work by old age and infirmity; Polly is very feeble." He speaks of his sons Lucius and Luzon, concerning their health; said Willie and his family and he and Polly lived together; said they had a little girl four years old (so we think she must have been born in 1848). This Willie, we are told, was an adopted son of Lucius Botsford, who m. Mary Norton. It looks as though Willie and his wife (we do not know who she was) were looking after the adoptive grandparents. Daniel writes about Michigan and a Walter Wilmot. We think he was b. in Bethany, Conn., Jan. 5, 1782, d. in West Haven May 12, 1854. His wife was Sarah Clark, from Milford. She d. at West Haven May 12, 1832.

Probably Walter Wilmot came home to die just twenty-two years to a day that his wife died. Their dau., Martha Wilmot, b. Dec., 1816, m. William Holt Dawson, who was b. Aug. 16, 1809, m. May 11, 1834; res. Westville, Conn. The reason we have made note of this is because Abigail Winston Dawson was this William Holt Dawson's step-grandmother, as Timothy Dawson, Abigail's husband, had three children by his first wife, Anna Holt Dawson, who d. at the age of 24, and Abigail Winston stepped in by becoming Timothy's second wife.

Daniel Botsford in his letter referring to a visit they made to Bristol, Conn., says, "I should think some of you would come out to see us"; thinks his sister Annis and her second husband, John Cowles, might come; would be glad to see any of our friends; speaks of their prosperity; flour coming down the lake in abundance, price four dollars, thinks it will be down to three; said the railroad had raised the price of land.

All we will say here of the two last of Theophilus and Dolly Bidwell Botsford's children is that we are told that George Arthur Botsford went West, then South. We surmise him b. abt. 1790, as the sixth and youngest child, Annis Botsford, who has been considered in the Winston line, was b. in 1792, and Irene Botsford Atkins was b. before George Arthur (we are told), in 1788. We leave these missing links for a future investigator to turn the light of research upon, thankful for what we have received, if not all we have put forth effort for.

In conclusion, we would comment from a higher point of view, by a sort of practical lesson derived from the events, history, and records, of these past and present lives which we wish to place in the hands of those who may desire it, as we have stopped now and then to consider along life's pathway that we might trace some footprints left by those gone before us. Many of these travelers have ended their journey; some whose dates we record with ours will soon follow our wayside footprints in the road that we travel over,—these footprints on the sands of time as guides or silent wanderings. How should we be watching, praying, striving to find and keep the narrow way, that when our lives are ended, that the impressions may be leading through the Christ to a better and eternal life. May this prayer come from the lips of one and all: "Lord, Thou who from everlasting to everlasting art God, incline us, like David of old, to exclaim, 'Lord, make me to know mine end and the measure of my days, what it is, that I may know how frail I am.' As all our days do pass on to an end as a tale that hath been told, like all of these whose dates of their departure we take note, so we our years do spend. Even if three score and ten do sum up the years we see, or if, by reason of more strength in some four score they be, yet doth the strength of such but grief and labor prove; for it is soon cut off and we are removed. O Lord, teach us our end in mind to bear, and so to count our days that we our hearts may apply to learn Thy wisdom and Thy truth, that we may live thereby; make us glad according to the days wherein Thou hast permitted affliction, and wherein we have seen or done evil. Let Thy work appear unto us, and Thy glory unto our children."

Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
Bears all its sons away;
They fly, forgotten as a dream
Dies at the opening day.

The busy tribes of flesh and blood,
With all their cares and fears;
Are carried downward by the flood,
And lost in following years.

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Be Thou our guide while life shall last,
And our perpetual home.

—WATTS.
